Installation: Bosch Climate 5000 M clearances update in Installation Manual document number 6721849819 (2024/05)

Currently in the Climate 5000 M installation manual on page 125 (section 2.8.3) there is a section that refers to a 'protection zone'. This is only relevant to appliances that are using R290 refrigerant. The Climate 5000 M uses R32 refrigerant and as such a 'protection zone' is not required.

The product clearances shown on page 600 are the correct clearances the heat pump outdoor unit requires.

This section has the correct clearances (see more on page 600)
