Installation: Flue clearances to Heat Pump outdoor units

FLUE CLEARANCES AROUND HEAT PUMPS AND AIR CONDITIONING OUTDOOR UNITS.

With the growing number of Heat pump and Air Conditioning systems installed, this document will give guidance on fossil fuel flue locations within the vicinity of all Bosch outdoor units.

See figure 1 below for the minimum clearances:

Fig 1.

- (A) 1500mm
- (B) 1500mm

- If a flue terminates within the clearances stated, please ensure a plume management kit is installed and terminates outside this area
- Height [A] can be reduced to 500mm. However, the reduction can increase the risk of corrosion to the heat pump and reduce the life expectancy
- Warranty of the heat pump could be affected if the unit should fail and the root cause is due to these clearances not being met

This document provides information for flue clearances only, please ensure the Manufactureres instructions are used for all other installation requirements
